

Alliteration

Listen to these sentences:

Carmen carefully caught Carl.

Steve saved seven seagulls.

Brian bought black brollies.

What do you notice about each?

Each word begins with the same sound

Alliteration

When one word after another starts with the same sound, this is alliteration

'Tongue twisters' are silly sentences or poems that use alliteration so that they are difficult to say quickly

Try saying some of these 'tongue twisters'

<http://learnenglishkids.britishcouncil.org/en/tongue-twisters>

Alliteration - Your turn

- 1) Think of a person's name or the name of an animal.
- 2) Think of some words that start with the same sound (you need some verbs, adverbs or adjectives).
- 3) Make a sentence with them.

Example: Sharon shines shoes shoddily.